US Jets Destroy 2 MIGs

Third Is Believed Shot Down During Air Battle Over International Waters

TOKYO — American Sabre Jets, jumped by Communist MIGs between North Korea and Red China, shot down two of the Russian-built jets and probably destroyed another this morning, the Air Force announced.

The dogfight started over international waters of the Yellow Sea, the Air Force said, when "eight Sabres were attacked by 12 to 16 Communist fighters." All the Sabres, on a patrol mission, returned later to their Korean bases.

The flight area was about 50 miles southwest of the mouth of the Yalu River boundary between North Korea and Red China. Communist China has a large air base at Antung, and North Korea at Sinuiju, on opposite banks of the Yalu.

The Air Force gave no clue on the nationality of the MIGs, used by the air forces of North Korea, Communist China and Soviet Russia.

An Air Force announcement said the MIGs fired first. It said the Sabres, from the 35th Squadron of the 8th Fighter-Bomber Wing, returned the fire. Two Communist pilots bailed out and "the third plane was last seen diving straight down trailing smoke."

American pilots who scored were Capt. R. V. Fulton, Bernardville, N.J.; Lt. B. C. Phythyon, Wadsworth, Ohio, and Lt. J. E. McInerney, Garden City, N.Y., the Air Force announced.

It was the third almost identical incident in the same general Yellow Sea area in 16 months.

On Jan. 22, 1954, American Sabres escorted an RB45 jet reconnaissance bomber shot down one MIG15 when a flight of Red planes attacked off the west coast of North Korea.

Feb. 5, Sabres escorted another RB45 jet shot down two more MIGs in a similar battle.

The Sabres were flying alone today, Far East Air Forces said.

Boy Scout Camp This Weekend; Contests Planned

More than two hundred Boy Scouts are looking forward to this weekend when the Pettis District Camp-O-Ree will be held. Friday afternoon they will gather their camping gear and go with their leaders to the Girl Scout Camp and set up camp. All day Saturday the patrols of four to eight boys each will be in close competition on scout skills. They will compete against a standard of ability — building and lighting fires, care of camp equipment, first aid, using a compass, and other camping skills. The Scouts will cook all their meals while there. Stunts, songs will be part of the fun at campfires both Friday and Saturday night.

Sunday morning after inspection of the campsites the Boy Scouts and leaders will return to town for religious services at their own churches. They and their parents will return to the camp for a basket dinner and court of honor Sunday afternoon.

Explorers — older youths still active in Scouting — will serve as judges and leaders of the events. Boy Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders are all looking forward to this weekend at Camp-O-Ree.

Harry W. Walch

Harry Walch Reelected To Symphony

Webber, Mrs. Ewing Also to Serve Again With Arthur Morgan

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Sedalia Symphony Society, Harry W. Walch was re-elected as president of this organization for the 1955-56 symphony season. Scott Webber, vice president, and Mrs. Duane Ewing, secretary, were also re-elected to those positions which they held during the 1954-55 season. Arthur Morgan, new member to the board, was elected treasurer to replace Charles W. Hanna, who resigned from the board this spring.

Immediately after the election, Walch appointed Bill Hopkins to continue as publicity director for the symphony. Webber was again selected by President Walch to be chairman of the artist's committee. A new position was created by the appointment of Carl Schrader as business manager in charge of staging and equipment for all of the 1955-56 concerts.

The board also voted to rehire Abe Rosenthal as conductor and Mrs. Carl Schrader as assistant conductor of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra for the next season.

It was decided at the meeting that all efforts will be extended to secure a "big name" artist for the 1955-56 season and several possibilities were discussed. At the same time, the board approved a motion to enlarge the symphony by soliciting music department heads in various high schools in this area to encourage musicians to try-out for the Sedalia symphony. It is planned to have try-outs for the orchestra in August.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Walch appointed Webber, Morgan, and Hopkins to work with him in drawing up a constitution and by-laws for the society.

House Proposal Asks Reduction Of Local Levies

JEFFERSON CITY — A bill to muffle the explosive effect of any State Tax Commission orders for assessment increases passed the House yesterday.

It was sent back to the Senate for consideration of House changes. The measure would require local taxing authorities to lower levies immediately to offset the effect of any state assessment hike. But it would not affect public school or library levies beyond the point of receiving state aid.

Present laws require that certain minimum levies be paid if the local districts or counties receive state aid. Under the bill, as amended, those minimums would be sustained.

The measure carries an emergency clause, to make it effective immediately on signing by the governor. It is an effort by the Legislature to lessen the impact of a recent tax commission order that assessments be raised as much as 95 per cent in 26 Missouri counties.

The House passed bills also to raise the pay of the state's probate judges and magistrates substantially. One of them, hiking the salaries of magistrates, goes to the governor. The other was returned to the Senate for consideration of House changes.

Houses Passes Raise For Postal Employees

WASHINGTON — Here is how Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma representatives voted yesterday as the House passed and sent to the Senate a compromise bill to give postal employees an average 8.8 per cent pay raise.

Democrats for — Cannon, Canham, Hull, Jones, Karsten, Moulder and Sullivan of Missouri; Albert, Edmondson Jarman and Wickersham of Oklahoma.

Republicans for — Belcher of Oklahoma. Short of Missouri.

Republicans against — Curtis of Missouri; George Hope, Rees, Scrivner, Smith, all of Kansas.

County Roads Program

Total of 103.9 Miles Have Been Proposed For Spot Surfacing; Bids to Be Sought

The Pettis County Court has submitted a list of improvements to be made on county roads to the State Highway Department for approval. The state pays one-half of the cost of the spot surfacing operation with gravel and crushed stone. A total of 103.9 miles are proposed for improvement.

The total cost is estimated at $10,390.00, or $100 per mile, with the state and the county each paying $50 per mile. However, bids must be submitted on the work and this is just the county's estimate of the cost.

The improvements are divided into two main projects, one for the northern half of the county and one for the southern half. Approximately 50 tons of the gravel and crushed stone are to be used on each mile.

Project No. 1 includes the following improvements: a total of 56.55 miles; 20.60 miles in the northwest corner; 18.35 miles northeast of Sedalia in the Newland area; 2.10 miles in the northeast corner; 4.90 miles in the same area; 3.70 miles on other roads in that area; 4.20 miles east of Beaman; and 2.70 miles east of Sedalia and north of Highway 50.

Project No. 2 in the southern half calls for the following improvements: 6.30 miles northwest of Green Ridge; 3.30 miles also in that general area; 5.0 miles east of Green Ridge; 2.25 miles further east and south of Green Ridge; 7.60 miles south of Green Ridge to the Benton County line; 2.0 miles east of Windsor from Highway 52 to Benton County line; 3.0 miles from Windsor going east.

Also to be improved are: 4.70 miles south of Bahner; 3.20 miles east and north of Bahner; 3.0 miles about halfway between Smithton and Bahner; 7.0 miles for a stretch south of Green Ridge to Highway 52.

Bids will be advertised for, pending approval of the list from Jefferson City.

Flood Inundates Odessa, Texas Residential Area

ODESSA, Tex. —People were plucked from car tops last night after a flash storm flooded a 21-block stretch of this west Texas city.

But water drained off swiftly, and damage was slight. No injuries were reported.

Rains of 2 to 3 inches which pounded Odessa fell from widespread storms that have soothed drought-hurt west Texas several days.

Police said the minor flood here caused more of a spectacle than damage. However, several cars were stranded and occupants rescued from the tops of them by boats.

At its highest, the water lay 2 to 3 feet deep on a line about 21 blocks long in the low-lying residential section.

Police said water didn't get into any homes or businesses, but Jim Odessa American, said a little seeped into some homes.

Revive Local Organization--

R. M. Johns, Jr., Named Pettis Civil Defense Chief

R. M. Johns, Jr., has accepted the post of civil defense chief for Sedalia and Pettis County and will be assisted by C. F. Scotten, county superintendent of schools.

This area has been without a civil defense organization during recent years and the Pettis County Court recently contacted the state civil defense office in Jefferson City about forming a new one.

That office sent Dean Lupkey, public relations officer here Tuesday to discuss organization and recommend procedure. Lupkey has talked with the county court and the newly appointed directors.

Lupkey stated the civil defense is now encouraging organization on the county level as more functional than on the city and town level with Pettis County being one of few organized that way at the present time.

The Pettis County organization can have the assistance of literature, films and personal guidance from the state if and when it is needed.

Lupkey stated, "The Pettis County area is important to civil defense in the case of an attack on Kansas City when 42,000 evacuees must pass through here and 32,000 would locate here indefinitely. The greatest need for the organization would be to handle emergency preparations in case of radiation

25 Cents Within Half-Hour--

Early Payment Fee for Overtime Parking Will Be Raised May 15

The Traffic Advisory Commission met Monday night and recommended that parkers who overstayed their time be permitted to escape paying the $1 fine for overtime parking if they get down to the police station within a half-hour after the tickets are issued and then they must pay 25 cents.

The new requirement will take effect May 15.

This is an increase over the present 10-cent fine for those who get to the station within a prescribed time, and it is a shortening of the time which they have to get to the station.

The new system was recommended after it was pointed out by Traffic Engineer Joseph Feuchter that an average of 50 people a day are still paying the 10-cent fee.

He said the low fee was originally established to help drivers get used to the need for putting money in the meters. This, in turn, he said, would keep traffic moving.

As it is, he said, there are those who take a chance on not putting money in the meters because they know that if they are caught they can get by with 10 cents, the amount they would have had to put in the meters in the first place. They lose nothing by disobeying the law, Feuchter also indicated that so many overtime parking violations means that traffic is not moving as much as it should.

The commission heard a report from City Engineer W. C. Davis, who said that by constructing a parking lot behind the post office for its employees, 41 cars owned by those employees had been taken off the streets and this has meant more parking spaces for other drivers. The cost of the lot, paid by the city was $490.

Cline Cain, commission chairman, said the new private parking lot behind the Fifth Street Methodist Church is taking another 20 cars off the street.

Feuchter proposed, and the commission agreed, that a survey of downtown parkers should be made to learn where they go after they park in order to learn the most convenient places for any future off-street parking areas in the business district.

Cain reported to the commission that House Bill 88 had passed both House and Senate and was awaiting signature by Gov. Don. (Please turn to page 6, Column 5)

named the streets that have been considered as truck routes within Sedalia so far, but an arrangement was made for him to consult with Davis about the usability of those streets and about the need

Increase Director's Salary--

Senate Passes Civil Defense Extension After Revisions

JEFFERSON CITY — A bill extending the life of the State Civil Defense Agency another two years and increasing the director's salary from $6,500 to $7,500 a year passed the Senate today.

The vote sending it back to the House for acceptance of sharp Senate changes was 30-0 but it came only after a long partisan wrangle.

As passed originally by the House, the agency's powers would have been broadened so it could step into natural disaster emergency work, as in tornadoes and floods. The Senate chopped all of the extra power away and merely extended the agency on its present basis.

But the Senate agreed to increase Director Marvin W. Smith's salary by $1,000 a year, then adopted an amendment ordering him to give full time to the job. Democrats called that a "slap in the face" for the director but Republicans picked up enough Democratic support to get it adopted.

Also passed and sent to the governor were bills permitting city and county libraries to merge and requiring five per cent of the voters to petition for a library tax election, instead of the present 100 taxpayers.

Also sent to the governor was a bill permitting the county offices in Buchanan, Clay, Greene and Jasper counties to work a five-day week. The Sheriff's office would be expected.

The Senate adopted a resolution by Sen. Clayton W. Allen (R) of Rockport asking the attorney general to file a United States Supreme Court suit to settle a Missouri-Nebraska boundary dispute.

A bill that caused a hot fight in the House slipped through the Senate in its compromise form with no opposition. It was a measure to divorce farm organizations like the MFA and the Farm Bureau from sponsoring county extension programs.

Under the compromise plan, the University Board of Curators would select county agricultural agents, but only with the consent of local extension advisory committees elected by the farmers of each township.

The vote sending it to the governor was 33-0.

The open house program is an annual affair.

Final Lecture In Series--

Dr. Clarence Davis to Talk At Medical Forum Tonight

The final lecture in the spring series of Pettis County Medical Forums will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock in the Little Theater at Smith-Cotton High School. Dr. Clarence D. Davis, professor and chairman of the Department and Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Missouri School of Medicine in Columbia will be the guest speaker.

Dr. Davis topic will be "For Women Only." The problems peculiar to three broad age groups of women will be discussed. The adolescent girl, the woman during the child bearing age and the woman during and after the "change of life" all are confronted with many different physical and emotional problems seen only in that age group. These many times bring about physical and emotional changes that not only affect her but influence her whole family.

Big Three Invites Reds to Top-Level Talks This Summer

Experts Finish Up Text and Get NATO Ministers' Fast Approval For Delivery to Kremlin Soon

PARIS — The Western Big Three, backed by the whole NATO alliance, invited the Soviet Union today to a top level conference this summer on East-West problems in Europe.

Notes suggesting such a meeting were being cabled to Moscow for delivery at the Kremlin tonight or early tomorrow diplomatic informants said.

Armed with President Eisenhower's consent, American, French and British experts finished up the text of the invitation and quickly obtained the approval of the NATO ministers, including West Germany's Chancellor-Foreign Minister Konrad Adenauer.

Under the proposal, U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov would meet a day or two in advance of a meeting "at the summit" of Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure.

The heads of government would then confer for a short period of time — perhaps three or four days — to lay down the outlines for a conference of their respective foreign ministers.

The heads of government would not be expected to take any decisions on substance nor make any binding agreements. They merely would agree on an agenda and designate the persons — the foreign ministers — to carry out the job.

Then foreign ministers would then take over the stage again for what would probably become a lengthy conference.

The invitation to the Kremlin will be couched in general terms. Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay will discuss the details of it with Molotov when they meet him Saturday in Vienna just before signing the Austrian state treaty there Sunday.

In Washington, the White House said Dulles had been given full powers to arrange a Big Four meeting of chiefs of state if the secretary thought it "feasible and useful."

Previously informants said the Western Allies would propose this kind of conference to the foreign ministers.

1. Eisenhower and the British and French Premiers would meet with Bulganin preferably around mid-July in neutral Switzerland.

2. The four government heads would have no fixed agenda, but would try to formulate broad directives aimed at settling specific causes of East-West tension in Europe.

3. These directives would be passed on to the foreign ministers

Salk Vaccine Clinic Postponed; Vaccine Supply Inadequate

The second mass inoculation of the Salk polio vaccine scheduled for Thursday at Horace Mann school had been "held up" according to an announcement from Dr. Thomas J. Hopkins.

According to the announcement the vaccine is not available in sufficient quantities at the present time locally or statewide. When the supply increases enough to allow the second shots to be administered to all of the children inoculated at the first clinic will receive their second shots.

The Democrat-Capital will carry the announcement of the second clinic.

to be translated into detailed agreements.

4. The four government chiefs would leave the conference immediately after drawing up a list of talking points and possible ways of settling them. This task probably would last only a week or so.

Fire Damages 2-Story House In Smithton

Local Fire Truck Is Credited With Avoiding Full Loss

A fire caused considerable damage to a Smithton two-family apartment house and its contents Tuesday morning. More damage was prevented by the first use of Smithton's new fire system.

A neighbor, Mrs. L. D. Hoehns, reported the fire about 9:15 a.m., after neighbors had noticed their lights dimming. Those first arriving on the scene found the meter wires burned in two. The flames had already burned the southwest corner of the house, where the meter was located, traveled up the siding and the outside stairway on the west side of the house and penetrated the attic.

The temporary community fire truck was on the scene a few minutes after the alarm was sounded, and a light hose connected to the truck's 150-gallon tank was used to hold the fire under control until the heavy hose could be connected and put into use. Then it was only a matter of about ten minutes before the fire was put out. William Zehringer, chief, directed the work.

Both young couples living in the house, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Green and Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin III, were on vacation together in the South at the time and were expected back Tuesday night or Wednesday. The owner, Stanley Bremer, is living in Florida.

The fire was so intense that, although the apartments' east side was not burned, the paint was blistered and the walls scorched and they were at the point of bursting into flame when the fire truck arrived on the scene to prevent it. The entrance on the west side was blocked by flames so that no contents could be carried out, and the furniture was smoke-damaged and water-soaked. Some papers and such things as silverware were reported unharmed.

Although observers smelled gas during the fire, no explosions occurred. The downstairs couple had been using bottled gas for cooking.

The truck used Tuesday is on loan from the Central Fire Equipment Co. of St. Louis while the firm is preparing a new truck for Smithton, to be delivered next month.

Canonization Proposed For Episcopal Bishops By Bishop E. R. Welles

CARTHAGE, Mo. — Canonization of two former bishops by the West Missouri diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church has been proposed by Bishop Edward R. Welles.

They are Bishop Jackson Kemper (1789-1870) and Bishop Daniel Tuttle (1837-1923).

The church has never canonized a modern saint in the Western Hemisphere.

Bishop Welles, addressing the annual diocese convention last night, asked that a commission make a study of the two men's lives and submit the proposal to the 1956 convention for approval.

He said the right to canonize saints locally was lost in 1834 and was restored by the church in 1928.

Self Defense

DES MOINES — Every conservation warden knows how a poacher goes about his business of stealing the public's game.

He drives slowly along the road in game country, stopping occasionally to peer about; car doors open stealthily and close again, the car creeps on.

An air-borne warden spotted just such behavior from his aircraft recently in the Iowa pheasant country. He radioed an officer on the ground, who raced to cut off the suspicious car and question the driver.

Poaching wasn't on the driver's mind. There was a wasp in his car, and he was trying to get rid of it.

New Type Aircraft May Make Large Airports Obsolete

WASHINGTON —Industrialist Harry F. Guggenheim has said the rapid development of aircraft which can take off and land vertically or nearly so soon may make many large airports and long runways obsolete.

Such aircraft at the same time may "turn the tops of buildings and small areas in or near the centers of cities into busy airports," Guggenheim said in a talk prepared for the annual meeting here of the Foundation Committee of the Daniel and Florence Guggenheim Aviation Safety Center at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

"A technical evolution of near-revolutionary proportions is occurring which promises to alter drastically the pattern of human flight," he said.

Guggenheim, active in aviation development since the 1920s, said also that "with the advent of vertical risers and other new develop-

Guggenheim said travel by air-line already has been made as safe as rail transportation. He added that since 1949 the airlines have more than doubled the number of passengers carried and the number of passenger-miles flown, yet have improved their safety record nearly 19-fold.

Police Rescue Pair From Brink of Gorge Over Niagara River

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. —Rescuers plucked a 14-year-old boy and a policeman from the wall of the Niagara River Gorge early Monday as they hung precariously over the swirling river. Young Dennis Martel was clinging to the cliff, about 30 feet from the top and 160 feet above the water, Niagara Frontier State Park police lowered Cpl. Carmen Conte by rope. The rope broke just as he reached the boy. Thirty feet further down, the corporal grabbed a small tree.

Other police lowered another rope. Conte suffered hip injuries. Police said the boy and two uncles had followed a pathway down the gorge last night. They lost the trail on the way up. The uncle made their way to the top and called police, who located the boy with searchlights.

Original Mayflower Now a Barn Roof

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent
LONDON (NEA)—Unknown to most Americans, the Mayflower, the most famous ship in American history, still exists—as a barn in the tiny village of Jordans, Buckinghamshire.

For the past 300 years this precious relic has lain upside down on a brick floor, its hull serving as the roof of a barn which is now owned by the Society of Friends in England.

The sturdy oak timbers which brought the Pilgrim Fathers to Plymouth, Mass., in 1620 now play host only to the death watch beetle.

The original red coat of paint has long since disappeared, leaving the curved beams bleached like the ribs of an enormous whale. One of the beams has a crack which tallies perfectly with that described in the diary of William Bradford, leader of the Pilgrim expedition.

There are other relics of interest: a cabin-door with a floral design of mayflowers carved on the cross-pieces, and part of the stern on which one can barely discern lettering which may have spelled "Mayflower Harwich."

When the Mayflower sailed from Cape Cod Bay in the spring of 1621 leaving 40 Pilgrims, all who survived that first bitter winter of the original band of 102, it dropped out of sight as far as the New World was concerned.

Even to day the Mayflower barn doesn't figure in any of the tourist guide books, although it lies only 20 miles from London.

How did the famous ship find its way inland as a barn? A yellowed bill of sale shows that it was bought as salvage in 1624 by a Buckingham farmer named William Russell.

Although the ship today would be worth millions to Americans, it brought only $384 at the auction sale. Its five great anchors went for less than $100. A set of sails "more than half worn" were knocked down for $45, while "ye pitch pot and kettle" brought $1.90.

Having reassembled the Mayflower as a livestock shelter, Russell later sold it and the adjoining farmhouse to the Society of Friends, then a persecuted sect.

It was in the farmhouse kitchen that the Friends held their first meetings, and it was from one of these meetings that William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, was dragged off to prison for worshiping according to the dictates of his conscience. Penn lies buried in the shadow of the new Friends Meeting Place at Jordans.

Although local tradition has long recognized the barn as the remains of the Mayflower, it was at one time the subject of bitter controversy. Some historians contended that Mayflower was a common name for ships in the 17th Century.

The question was resolved by reference to the diary of William Bradford, who recorded every detail of the Mayflower trip. In his diary Bradford tells how the Mayflower nearly turned back for England after encountering a heavy storm which cracked one of its beams amidship.

Then someone remembered the iron press in the hold—probably the property of the printer Bruster. With the great iron screw from this press, the crew was able to bolster the sagging beam, and the Mayflower continued her course without further mishap.

In the Mayflower barn at Jordans there is a 15-foot crack in the barn roof corresponding exactly to that noted in Bradford's journal.

OUTSIDE OF BARN gives no hint of famous ship's ribs that support it. Few tourists know it holds Mayflower remains.

UPSIDE DOWN SKELETON of hull of famous ship Mayflower holds up the roof of 300-year-old barn 20 miles from London.

Sprinkle New Lawns Now for Good Results With Little Force

If you have a newly seeded lawn, now is the one time it will benefit from light sprinkling. Horticulturists at the University of Missouri says sprinkling is good for new lawns provided the force of the water is not too great.

Lawn grass seeds are usually sown near the soil surface where they need a constant light supply of moisture to germinate properly. A light sprinkling daily in dry weather will keep the grass seeds developing normally and permit the young seedlings to develop a sufficient root system. The force of water should be gentle so that it does not wash the seeds or shift the soil in the seedbed.

Once lawn grasses have been established, horticulturists say a light sprinkling is of little value. Old lawns need at least an inch of water for the application to be of any benefit. This can best be applied by a sprinkler at the end of a hose or by a soaker hose.

Lawns on loamy soil should be given one to one and a half inches of water every ten days in dry weather. Once in twenty days should be enough for clay soil, while a soaking once every five days may be necessary on sandy soil.

Wrong Celebration

STAMBAUGH, Mich. (AP)—Vernon Carlson was released from the hospital after five weeks treatment of acid burns suffered in an accident at an iron mine. To celebrate he decided to go hunting. While he was loading his gun, his dog jumped on him. The gun discharge shattered a bone in his leg.

He was returned to the hospital the same day he was released.

Practical But Not Loyal

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball writers covering the Yankees this year are practical observers.

By a vote of seven to two they picked the Indians to win the American League pennant. They also chose the Braves to take the flag in the National League.

All seven picking the Indians for first place had the Yanks for second.

Kansas City was the unanimous choice for the cellar spot.

Tax Reduction Argued For High Income Level In Proposed Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Mills (D-Ark.) Monday disputed a business group's proposal that higher income brackets should get biggest percentage cuts in a general income tax reduction expected next year.

Mills commented after the Committee for Economic Development (CED), in a possible prelude to some of the Eisenhower administration's 1956 tax proposals, reported it should be possible to cut taxes three to five billion dollars next year.

The CED is sponsored by a group of prominent private businessmen to make studies and reports on federal policies which affect the nation's economy. It has had close ties with businessmen who are now leaders in the administration, and its tax proposals have often foreshadowed Eisenhower administration policies.

Mills is a senior member of the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Hottest news in Hardtops is the 4-Door Riviera

Why take anything less than the sensation of the year?

WHEN you learn what's been done in the automobile pictured here, you can easily see why this beauty is winning rave notices coast to coast.

Buick engineers took the hardtop body design that has been growing tremendously in popularity over the past six years—and gave it four doors instead of two.

Simple? Sure—to all outward appearances.

But it took a brand-new kind of body with wholly new structural principles to do it—to bring this long-awaited new kind of automobile to the public in volume numbers and at popular prices.

For this is a true hardtop—with the sleek and racy look of a Convertible, because there are no center posts in the window areas on either side.

And now it has front doors for the front-seat passengers—and rear doors for the rear-seat passengers—plus room increased to the size of a full Sedan.

(It took some special kind of engineering magic, you can be sure, to hinge all four doors at their forward edges for greater safety, and more ease of entering and exiting.)

So it looks like Buick has scooped the industry again—and come up with the hottest news in hardtops since Buick originated the very first two-door hardtop six years ago.

HOTTEST NEWS IN AUTOMATIC DRIVES IS VARIABLE PITCH DYNAFLOW

It's the world's first transmission with the switch-pitch principle of the modern airplane's variable pitch propeller. You get better gas mileage in cruising. You switch the pitch just by pressing the gas pedal—and get lightning-like response for getaway, or for a sudden safety-surge of accelerating power. It's the performance thrill of the year. Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on other Series at no more extra cost than earlier versions of this wonder drive.

And you can have it now—in the low-price SPECIAL or the supremely-powered CENTURY—and either one at the modest extra cost of a 4-door model over a 2-door.

Drop in on us today—this week, for sure—and see how easily and how quickly one can be yours.

Sanitation Rules In Wheat Support Plan

Wheat produced this year will have to meet certain sanitation requirements to be eligible for price supports. The Department of Agriculture says 1955 wheat must meet minimum requirements of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. Previously, the department had announced that 1954 wheat under loan would have to meet these requirements to be eligible for resealing.

The Commodity Credit Corporation will announce the specific limitations on insect damage and foreign matter soon. USDA officials say that in general, farm storage acceptable under previous support programs will furnish adequate protection under the new requirements. However, they point out that some farmers will need to protect their wheat by fumigating and by rat-proofing storage facilities.

Bandit Caught After Failing Bank Robbery

JONESBORO, Ark. (P)—A lone bandit, wearing a silk stocking on his head and an extra set of clothes, tried unsuccessfully to rob the Peoples National Bank here today.

Police said they had arrested Roscoe P. Barlow, 39, former employee in the city-owned water and light plant here. They said he had been unemployed for the past six months.

Patrolman Vernon Walker said that about 6:50 a.m., a man forced a Negro janitor and his wife to admit him to the bank.

Brandishing a .45 service automatic, he tied the couple with light cord and waited in ambush behind a marble counter for the first of the bank employees to arrive.

The bandit stepped out of his hiding place when A. B. Womack, 70, the agricultural field representative of the bank, let himself in the front door at 7 a.m.

Forcing Womack to strip off his shirt, the bandit bound Womack, and forced him to lie on the floor behind a marble counter.

An hour later, with Womack and the Negro couple lying bound in the bank, the vice president of Peoples National Bank, Traston Williams, 43, started in the rear door.

When he opened the door, he sighted the couple lying bound on the floor.

Silently closing the door, Williams turned to go for the police.

Darland Kirkpatrick, a cashier, arrived for work about then and, as the two men started to go for help, they sighted a man they later told police looked "suspicious" standing on the street near the rear entrance.

When the two bank men called to him, they later told police, he fled down the street.

Kirkpatrick and the manager of a service station across from the bank, Harold Horner, gave chase. Williams stopped an oncoming taxi and used its radio to call police.

Leaving Horner behind, young Kirkpatrick continued up the street for two blocks until he saw the man duck into an alley.

Following the bandit into the alley, Kirkpatrick came face to face with the man and the .45 service pistol.

Forcing Kirkpatrick out of the alley, the bandit motioned for him to start back toward the bank.

A crowd of people, alerted by the excitement, arrived and the unsuccessful robber again fled.

Walker driving alone in a squad car, nabbed him. Police learned later that the bandit had a car parked in the alley where he was captured.

House Bloc Hold Reins On Steadhead Proposal

WASHINGTON (P)—The fate of a bill to confer statehood on Alaska and Hawaii apparently rested today with a bloc of 80 or so reportedly undecided House members.

With a final House vote expected by tonight, statehood supporters said a poll showed 176 votes for the statehood bill and 172 against—with about 80-odd representatives still on the fence.

Before the showdown, both backers and opponents of statehood for the two territories hoped to win over the bulk of the undecided. The prospect was for a close final count.

She and Robert J. McKenzie, 30, of Tampa, were swept out to sea when they went swimming.

Coast guardsmen in helicopters spotted the bodies an hour later, the several hundred yards off shore and dropped flares to mark their location. Fishermen in boats recovered them.

The two victims had gone to the St. Petersburg beach with Mrs. Betty Rabin and Miss Gloria Pratt, also of Tampa, and all four were in the water when the undertow caught them. Mrs. Rabin and Miss Pratt, aided by other swimmers, managed to get back to shore.

Tourist Trade At New Record For Americans

NEW YORK (P)—More than half a million Americans will swarm over Europe this year in search of culture or fun.

Other thousands will go to Latin America and the Far East. It looks like the biggest travel year ever.

Heavy bookings are reported by the transatlantic steamship lines. Every airline flying the Atlantic predicts this year's travel totals will top last year by at least 10 per cent. Many lines are adding new equipment for the peak summer season.

American spending for transportation, travel and various services will be over 200 million dollars higher this year, the National Foreign Trade Council predicts, bringing the total spending by Americans traveling outside the United States to nearly three billion dollars.

The American Express Co. expects a record-breaking year on the basis of a survey of 25 principal tourist centers in Europe. The cities were expecting from 3 to 33 per cent more American visitors than last year.

Hotel reservations for April and May were up 10 to 25 per cent in 15 cities, and all reported summer bookings running 10 to 30 per cent ahead of a year ago.

The American Automobile Assn. predicts 80,000 American vacationists will drive through a part of Europe this summer.

There will be 65 service ships in regular Atlantic service at the peak of the tourist season, and shipping companies say they may call upon some "austerity vessels" to handle the overflow of tourists. For the entire year the shipping companies expect to carry one million passengers—not all tourists, of course—across the Atlantic in one direction or the other.

Twenty airlines fly the Atlantic regularly. Last year they carried 486,000 across the Atlantic to and from the United States, two-thirds of them tourist class.

This summer Pan American will increase its flight frequency by 38 per cent through new equipment. Its average weekly seating capacity will be 2,650 a the peak, compared with 1,100 last month. Trans World Airlines now has 78 weekly flights across the Atlantic and says it will increase that to 92 flights this summer, with a seating capacity of 2,500 each way.

Last Evacuees Leave North Viet Nam Area Before Red Takeover

HAIPHONG, North Viet Nam (P)—A U. S. Navy task group loaded thousands of refugees from Red rule here today as Communist-led Vietnamese troops moved in to take over this port city under terms of the Indochina armistice. The French will be out of the big port by Friday.

The American ships, commanded by Capt. A. R. St. Angelo, of Providence, R.I., were expected to carry some 30,000 more persons who want no part of Red rule to Western-allied South Viet Nam. There they will join 762,000 other North Vietnamese who fled earlier.

The flotilla stopped up operations yesterday when the vanguard of Ho Chi Minh's victorious Vietnamese army rumbled into Haiphong's suburbs, continuing their treaty-arranged takeover of all North Viet Nam from French Union forces.

Rains Cover Missouri With Cooler Weather

KANSAS CITY (P)—Showers sprinkled most of Missouri in the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. today and more rainfall was expected in the southeast and south portions this afternoon.

Rains measuring about half an inch fell at Butler, Columbia, Farmington, Joplin, Rolla and West Plains. Other cities reported lesser amounts.

The Weather Bureau forecast more showers for the southwest tomorrow.

The rains brought cooler weather. The low tonight is expected to be 45 to 50 in the north to 60 in the south. Missouri's maximum temperatures tomorrow will be in the lower 70s.

Benson Asks Support By GOP Women

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson appealed today to a nationwide gathering of Republican women to help hold the line on the administration's flexible farm price support program "until it has been given a fair test."

The Democratic-controlled House voted last week to scrap that program, passed by Congress last year, and return to a system of higher rigid price supports on basic crops. Signs are that the Senate will not act on the bill this year.

Benson, in remarks prepared for the Republican Women's National Conference, described the House action as "a backward step." He said his department will continue its opposition.

Benson was the first of seven cabinet members scheduled to brief an expected 1,600 Republican women leaders from throughout the country here for a two-day meeting to discuss plans for the 1956 general election.

Attending from Sedalia is Mrs. Fred Rose, 815 West Third.

Benson told the women their support also is needed for the agriculture department's longer-term goal.

"We need you as our spokesmen to convince the housewife, the businessman, the farmer himself, and each taxpayer, of the need to go strongly ahead with a program of research and market development," he said, "and not to fall back on a system that relies chiefly on subsidies and controls."

nelly and that this would permit the city to purchase and maintain an off-street parking area by using general revenue — something previously not possible, according to the law existing then.

Feuchter reported that a survey is being made of improved street lighting needs in the downtown business district.

William Schien, chairman of the subcommittee on truck routes, for weight limits before any definite recommendation is made by his subcommittee to the commission as a whole.

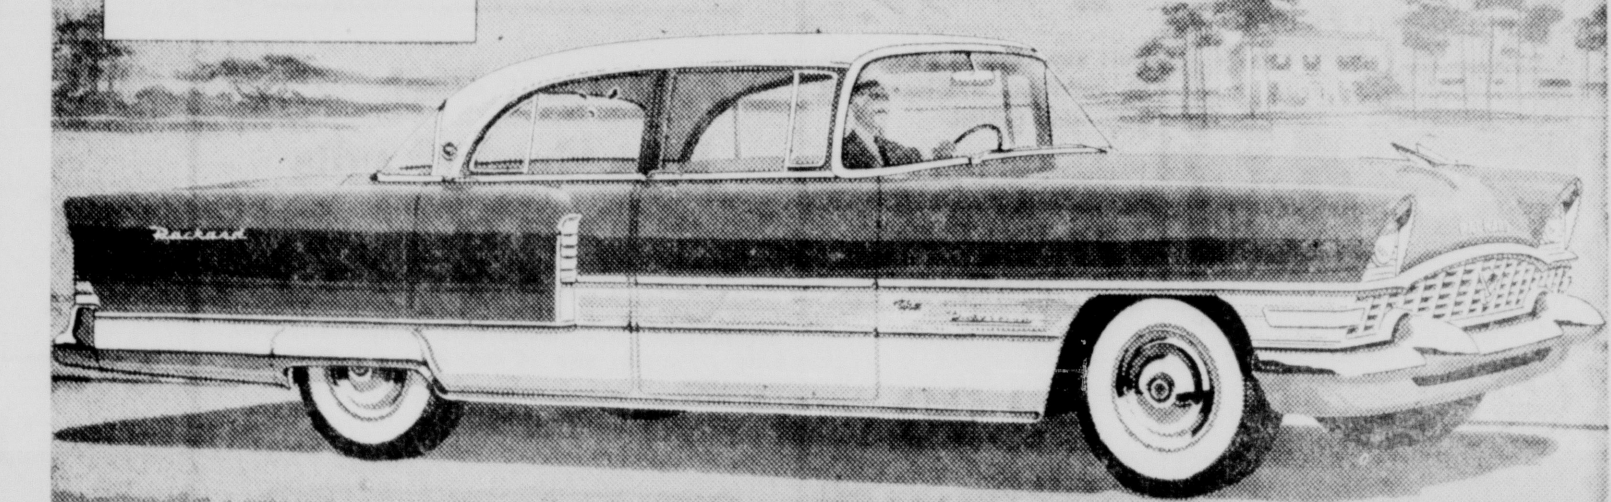

The commission was reminded that the new-green foliage is in many cases interfering with visibility at intersections. Cain asked commission members to note such intersections, report them to U. L. Howerton, traffic clerk, who will then notify Davis for action in having the visibility restored. Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors said he would have his patrol car drivers do the same thing.

After hearing from Davis that old stop signs have been replaced with new ones and that, where needed badly, additional ones have been posted, the commission recommended that the map of these signs that Davis has drawn be checked by Traffic Engineer Feuchter for agreement with national safety standards and that a uniform system be established for future placement of such signs. It was pointed out that this was not intended as a criticism of the work that has been done so far in good faith but that this is an ideal time to set up a uniform stop sign system.

The next meeting of the commission will be June 13.

MAGNIFICENT 260 HORSEPOWER PACKARD PATRICIAN

the New PACKARD with Torsion-Level Ride

A truly distinctive fine car — the new Packard. Distinctive in having exclusive Torsion-Level suspension . . . providing a ride so smooth, so level, so comfortable on any road it has created a higher concept of motoring pleasure! Distinctive in its quiet magnificence, with color harmonies both refreshing and sophisticated and interiors designed for your personal luxury. Torsion-Level Ride — Packard's newest achievement in creative engineering leadership — eliminates conventional coil and leaf springs. In other cars, twisting forces due to wheel shock are transmitted to the frame with resulting pitch and bounce of passengers and wracking of car body and frame. With the new Packard these same twisting forces are transmitted along the new torsion bar system and absorbed before they can reach frame or passengers. Distinctive, too, are Packard's new "free-breathing" V-8 engine, developing up to 275 horsepower . . . and the agile automatic response of Packard's two-in-one Twin Ultramatic Transmission. Here, in all its distinction, is a fine new car with a fine old name. "Ask the Man Who Owns One."

Sheppard Out Again; Only Appeal Left

CLEVELAND (AP)—Twice loser in moves to win a new trial from the judge who sentenced him, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard today based his hope of freedom from life in prison on an appeals court hearing scheduled for May 23.

Judge Edward S. Blythin, in whose court a jury convicted Sheppard last Dec. 21 of clubbing his wife to death, rejected late yesterday a motion for a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence.

Weeks ago Judge Blythin denied a new trial motion citing numerous alleged errors in the 31-year-old osteopath's 10-week trial. That earlier denial was carried to the Appellate Court, and Sheppard's chief counsel William J. Corrigan said he would "with dispatch" supplement it with an appeal from yesterday's decision.

Sheppard remained in county jail, where he was taken last July 30, charged with bludgeoning his pregnant wife Marilyn in her bedroom at their Bay Village home July 4. He had no comment on Judge Blythin's ruling.

The new evidence in the defense case boiled down mainly to a 50-page affidavit by Dr. Paul L. Kirk, University of California professor of criminalistics. Hired by Corrigan, Kirk came here in January for several days of investigation.

The key part of Kirk's affidavit was that he found a blood spot on a wardrobe door in the murder bedroom and his tests, he said, showed it was not blood from Sheppard or the murder victim. Kirk said the spot dripped from a sex-slayer's hand, bitten by Marilyn Sheppard when he tried to stifle her screams.

The state had countered with an expert's affidavit discounting the accuracy of methods Kirk used to test the blood spot on the wardrobe door.

Judge Blythin's 16-page opinion, bristling in spots, had this to say of Kirk's findings:

"His conclusions are based on his own theories, do not necessarily eliminate Sam Sheppard, nor are they necessarily consistent with the theories of the defense at the trial. . . ."

(Kirk suggested the slayer used a heavy flashlight as the never-discovered murder weapon, and at the trial the defense suggested a multipronged instrument gashed the victim's skull, the judge noted.)

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Jack Gaunt, staff photographer of the Los Angeles Times, is the winner of the Associated Press national contest for excellence in news photography for 1954.

His winning picture was awarded a Pulitzer Prize a week ago, and it is the first time a news photograph has won both awards.

Gaunt's picture, "Cruel Waves," shows a husband and wife turning to each other on the edge of the ocean after their young son toddled into the surf and was swept out to sea.

The AP contest was judged before the Pulitzer Prize winners were announced. The AP awards were announced yesterday by Paul E. Neville, managing editor of the South Bend Tribune, chairman of the judging committee.

Note In a Bottle Sets Police Exploring Trip

FERNDALE, Md. (AP)—Police of Anne Arundel County on Chesapeake Bay have given up looking for a "crazy occupant" on St. Helena Island.

They combed the small island over the weekend after someone found a note in a pickle jar on a beach. Dated April 7, 1955, it read: "Help. Am on St. Helena Island, Severn River. Am being chased by crazy occupant who eats people alive. Get police and come quick. "Arthur Smite."

Rescue Workers Search for Man Buried In Ruins

NEW YORK (AP)—Rescue squads dug into tons of rubble today in search for a construction worker missing in the roaring collapse of the New York Coliseum's main exhibition floor.

Fifty-one of some 1,000 workers on the job were injured late yesterday when the floor gave way while concrete was being poured into it. Twenty-three were hospitalized.

Missing was Joseph Lombardi, 55, a cement worker.

More than 100 workers scrambled for their lives as concrete, steel and wood plunged 22 feet to the street-level floor of the project being built at Columbus Circle.

"Something started to give," said one worker. "Then there was a terrible noise. It was like an earthquake. I just went down."

Another worker said it was like a "terrific explosion—like a big boiler exploding."

"I ran and ran like a mad dog trying to get up those boards," said still another. "I thought I'd never get out."

A 22-story office building being built as part of the project was unaffected by the cave-in of the 180-by-180-foot floor section.

Just what caused the collapse remained a mystery.

Preliminary investigation showed no break or weakening in the structural steel framework.

Your Eyes and Visual Functions

Undoubtedly many people in our state have been tempted to buy glasses at the spectacular sales advertised now and then. The temptation to save money is great, especially in these times when the budget is strained by the higher costs of automobiles, homes and the many things which are a "must" in our daily lives.

For those who are tempted to purchase spectacles at these "fabulous" sales, the Missouri Optometric Association offers these suggestions to be considered carefully.

A number of our states do not permit such sales of glasses, because it is believed that they are often an indirect cause of acquired blindness. The purchaser of such glasses may delay too long in seeking competent eye care from the professional optometrist or ophthalmologist and, in so doing, may not receive needed medical, dental or visual care early enough.

There is really nothing unusual about the cheap prices advertised in these so called sales. Lenses and frames can be, and are made in various degrees of quality just the same as any other material thing. It should be remembered always that the most important thing about getting glasses is the examination or visual analysis made. Many practitioners think from four to eight carefully made examinations constitute a heavy day's work. Others seem willing to examine and prescribe glasses for from twenty to forty. Such so called examinations are known as "quickies".

Serious minded, conscientious men dedicated to eye and vision care have many reasons to believe that a cheap pair of glasses is about the last thing a person can afford to buy.

Open House At Our Hospital

A visit with a sick patient in a hospital has been the experience of most adults. On such an occasion there is little opportunity to see all equipment—the mechanics—the busy personnel often out of sight, elements making a hospital function efficiently on behalf of the ill and injured.

In order to familiarize the public with Bothwell Memorial Hospital Thursday has been set aside for open house as a part of Sedalia's observance of National Hospital Week. There will be guided tours throughout the entire building between 2 and 4 and 7 and 8 o'clock. Superintendent James Franks has announced.

There was a time in the 17th century when sick people were usually cared for in almshouses, pesthouses and quarantine stations. Centuries passed before hospital service began to be recognized as a part of civilized life. Marked advances have come in the 20th Century. Within the past 50 years Sedalians have witnessed revolutionary improvements in the care of the sick. Within the past 20 years in the United States the length of stay of the average patient in a general hospital dropped from 14 to 9 days. At Bothwell Memorial Hospital the average stay is only 8 days.

But as new technological procedures have been developed there has also arisen public demand for increased services. Sedalians are proud of the advances in hospital services made locally. When Bothwell hospital was built opinion prevailed the community needs in this respect were taken care of indefinitely.

However the trend of progress in hospitalization has been such that Sedalia's Bothwell facilities are rapidly growing inadequate. Expansion is necessary and sooner or later this problem must be publicly recognized and steps taken to correct it.

So National Hospital Week observance at Bothwell Memorial Hospital on Thursday affords Sedalians an opportunity to take a look at what we have and be thankful, yet also become familiar with what we lack, and start thinking what we are going to do about it.

Can't We Propagandize Commies a Bit?

The Communist world is apparently all out for "negotiations" with the West. But on what terms do the Communists propose to negotiate?

Communist China says she'll negotiate provided no one disputes her so-called "sovereign" right to liberate (i.e. take by force) the Nationalist-held island of Formosa. The Russian Communists are saying they'll negotiate provided the United States will destroy its atom bombs and give up US-held air bases all around the world. In fact, both Communist countries are saying that they'll negotiate provided the West will give in completely to Communist demands.

As the Communists continue to beat the drums for "negotiation" on these absurd terms, it will be interesting to note the reaction of other non-Communist countries. The reaction from Washington has so far been rather unimaginative. As long as the Communists are asking the West to give up so much, why doesn't someone ask the Communists to give up (and really "liberate") North Korea, Manchuria, Tibet, the Baltic states, East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Bulgaria? When asked to destroy American A-bombs, why isn't Washington more vocal about demanding that the Communists accept international control of atomic energy?

Eventually, some sort of negotiations are bound to take place between the Communists and Western NATO powers. In the meantime, the Communists are making outrageous demands for their purely propaganda effects. But is there any good reason why the West can't get in a few good propaganda licks, too?

After 90 Years, Not Surrender But Union

After ninety years, the site of General Robert E. Lee's surrender of the army of northern Virginia to Lieut. Gen. U. S. Grant, which was the McLean House at Appomattox, Virginia, will be restored by the National Park Service. The Times-Virginian of the new Appomattox recorded the ninetieth anniversary in these words: "Virginians and all southerners are none too proud of the word 'surrender' but peace is a magic word in a war-weary world."

It is fitting that this historic site and its environs should be restored and preserved. Much credit should rightfully go to the Daughters of the Confederacy, who have done so much in preserving and publicizing the beauty and history of the south. The emphasis of Appomattox should not be on the surrender of Lee to Grant, but rather the meeting place of two great generals and former West Point cadets.

General Lee kept his sword, his horse, and self-respect and his army returned to their homes. Under the poplar tree which still stands by the side of the creek near the McLean House, General Lee wrote his farewell order to his men. "You will take with you the satisfaction that proceeds from the consciousness of duty faithfully performed."

Let the shrine at Appomattox be the site where the Union was preserved, where a nation was saved for all Americans and where the pride of the South, which was temporarily wounded, lived to serve in a united cause.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round—Young Governors Dominate Capital Confab

WASHINGTON — With the nation's governors — Seldom have so many alert young governors gathered in Washington as during the recent gubernatorial conference. Among the most impressive youngsters were Hail of Kansas, Foss of South Dakota, Republicans; Leader of Pennsylvania, Muskie of Maine, Freeman of Minnesota, Simms of New Mexico, Faubus of Arkansas, all Democrats. . . . Also oldtimer "Soapy" Williams of Michigan, still young but serving his fourth term; Meyner of New Jersey, who now acts like an old-timer; and such elder statesmen as Ed Johnson of Colorado, now in his 70's but just elected, and McFarland of Arizona, who was both senator and governor. . . . Averell Harriman of New York, who looks almost as young as Leader of Pennsylvania, showed confidence and maturity, made an impression on colleagues. One year ago he was less assured. Now he stood firm on issues, talked briefly and forcefully. . . . George Craig of Indiana, close friend of Eisenhower, did his best to put through the General Clay highway program, got an assist from GOP governors Knight of California and Langlie of Washington. But Democrats Meyner (N. J.) Faubus (Ark.), Clement (Tenn.) and others talked the highway down. It didn't even come up for a vote. . . . Three youngest governors, Clement of Tennessee, 34, Leader of Pennsylvania, 37, Freeman of Minnesota, 36, were comparing notes as to which was youngest. Their three wives happened to be present. Governor Clement started to take a poll to see which was the youngest wife, but abruptly stopped. The question still remains a mystery. . . . Governor Simms (N. Mex.) was at dinner with Speaker Sam Rayburn when Rayburn paid tribute to his "graduates" — the Senators who had trained under him in the House of Representatives and gone on to the U. S. Senate. Rayburn didn't know it, but young Governor Simms trained as speaker of the New Mexico House of Representatives. Politicos are talking of him for the Senate if and when elder statesman Dennis Chavez retires.

McCarthyism Backfires — Delightful Gov. Faubus was attending a party given by the Arkansas Society. Reared on a chicken farm where his 67-year-old father still raises chickens, Faubus said: "When I was a kid I cut timber for the Fulbright Lumber Co., and didn't have the money to go to a university like the senior senator from Arkansas. So I had to go to Commonwealth College." . . . The statement got a roar from Arkansas for two reasons: 1. Senator Fulbright, who is a distinguished Rhodes scholar and former university president, made his money through a lumber company which pays notoriously low wages. 2. Commonwealth College had the reputation of being a pro-Communist institution and since Governor Faubus as a youngster went there for nine days, ex-Governor Cherry threw it up against him during the election campaign, when Faubus was called a Communist. . . . However, the charge backfired and elected Faubus — only the second time in 118 years that candidate has defeated an Arkansas governor for re-election. . . . Actually Governor Faubus and Senator Fulbright are good friends. Arkansians take pride in calling themselves hillbillies, but also in the fact that they are represented in the Senate by a Rhodes scholar and former university president.

Shivers Woos Washington — Governor Shivers flew to Washington in a chartered 34-seat Braniff plane, with only his public relations man, Jimmy Banks, and the latter's two children along. In Washington, he wooed other governors, and for the most part won them. He also conferred pleasantly and profitably — from his point of view — with Democratic chairman Paul Butler at a breakfast in the speaker's kitchen. They came out of the kitchen arm-in-arm, after which Butler issued a complimentary statement. . . . Shivers, however, wasn't so cooperative when talking to Texas newsmen. Asked: "Will you be for Stevenson in '56?" Shivers replied, "No." . . . "What does he have to change besides his stand on Tideland Oil before you will support him?" Shivers was asked. . . . "His name," was the reply. . . . Informed by the press of this rebellious statement, Chairman Butler replied, "He didn't tell that to me." . . . Texas loyalists were disappointed at the embrace given their disloyal governor by the Democratic chairman. Most of them, however, figure that Shivers is washed up. Veterans' land scandals, insurance scandals, etc., have made it next to impossible for him to run again. . . . Congressman "Tiger" Teague of Texas was nervous and fidgety when he presided over a luncheon with Sam Rayburn on his right and Governor Shivers on his left. Rayburn, unlike Lyndon Johnson, has never forgiven Shivers for his doublecross in '52. Teague knew it. He was so nervous that he didn't introduce Shivers, but invited young Congressman Joe Kilgore, from the governor's home district, to make the introduction.

Mystery In Genius' Brain

Which of Albert Einstein's brains will prove most significant to science, the living brain which produced the theory of relativity and ushered in the atomic age, or the physical brain removed from his body, following his death?

What the great scientist gave during his lifetime has already been of great benefit although the average person lacked the ability to make sense out of his mathematical formulae. His colleagues and students, however, did comprehend, and were able to put his brilliant ideas into practical use.

Will his devoted comrades find the secret of his genius in the physical brain his son has permitted them to analyze and study or will they find that the structure of the brain of a genius is just the same as any other brain? Will they conclude that genius is the product of the soul and cannot be located in the brain matter? It will be interesting and enlightening to learn what the researchers find.

Hal Boyle's Column—Time Ripe for Handing Out 'M memoir Medals' For Effort

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—I supposed that now, 10 years after the war, it was fair to start passing out memoir medals.

Lt. Col. Jay Vessels of the U.S. Air Force is my first candidate. Jay never piloted a plane. But a dozen years or so ago he ruled the skies over Tunisia with his typewriter just as the British navy shortly before had bossed the Mediterranean with a couple of cruisers, a few destroyers and an agile battery of mimeograph machines.

Ordinarily a newspaperman goes into the public relations business for financial reasons, such as the desire to earn enough money to send his sons through college.

Jay was an exception. He left his secure newspaper post in Minneapolis to join the Army because he was a rip-roaring patriot.

He had been an enlisted infantryman in the first world war, and somewhat to his own confusion they made him an officer in the second world war. He rose from lieutenant to lieutenant colonel but never lost his fear of sergeants. I don't know what gave him that sense of rank claustrophobia, but a guy with three stripes always frightened him more than a guy with three stars.

He was a guerrilla operator and he operated a guerrilla press camp. As a public relations officer, he ran certainly the most orthodox press camp of the war. Jay lost his heart at the start to the P40 pilots, guys who fought the better equipped German fighters to a draw with a slower, low-altitude but heavier armored plane.

His heroes at that time were Col. Phil Cochran and Capt. Levi Chase of New York. Both were men of high courage, both were great leaders. Capt. Chase was also a great teacher. It was his stern duty to teach his high-spirited pilots that in terms of speed and climb they were one plane behind the Germans, but by using the P40 within its limits they could compete with the enemy.

Capt. Chase proved his leadership himself. He became the leading ace of the North African theater.

later by shooting down 10 Germans. A quiet man, he never sought combat. When he was jumped, he stayed low, kept turning into the German, and when the German finally made a mistake he used his firepower to knock him from the sky. But always in retreat.

Jay Vessels became the unofficial biographer of the P40 boys. When they had a good day he bragged, when one of them died he cried. He knew every single one of them.

He dragged Ernie Pyle and every other correspondent into meeting his boys, writing about his boys and sometimes flying with his boys.

Everything he did was unorthodox. To keep his gypsy press camp rolling from Tunisia through Sicily, Italy and France he lied, sweated, bragged and stole supplies. But although this skinny, black-eyed little former doughboy was frightened by any sergeant he would go in and bawl out any general to get what he felt was needed to do his job.

And the man knew what his job was. It was to tell the combat story of the close-up combat arm. If they ever give a medal for morale in the Air Force, the first one should go to Lt. Col. Jay Vessels.

The last I heard from Jay he was down in Texas running a place called "No Horse Ranch." But I'm sure that whenever a plane thunders overhead he looks up and remembers the days in Tunisia when stubborn courage shored up a falling sky.

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

THERE IS VERY little difference in the ages of a brother and sister in a Sedalia family with the sister being just a little older than the brother and a freshman in high school.

Their voices over the telephone sound exactly alike, so much so that even their father can't tell which one he is talking to when he sometimes happens to call home and one of them answers. This has been a very disturbing thing for the girl. When her girl friends call, he carries on quite a conversation with them if he answers the telephone and they never know the difference, they just rattle on to him and his sister is furious when she comes in and finds out what he is doing. But there is still a worse problem. He doesn't stop with her girl friends—he carries on with the boy friends, too.

One day recently at meal time the family was sitting at the table and the boy was telling something. His voice got low and then very high and seemed to take on several queer pitches. When he had finished his mother looked at the father and remarked: "I think his voice is changing."

"Well, I sure am glad," piped up the young daughter. "Now he can't talk to my boy friend."—H.L.

Residents Plagued By Munching Caterpillars

BALTIMORE (AP)—Thousands of fuzzy, black-eyed caterpillars who are slowed but not stopped by sprays are causing a clamor among the residents of the 400 block of Dale Avenue.

That is the block the caterpillars apparently have chosen for their favorite. They munch on rose bushes, shrubs and tree leaves. Residents coming home at night say they can't get in without stepping on them.

County Health Officer Dr. William Warthen said the caterpillars are not dangerous and there is "no possible cause for alarm."

XXVI
AT the precise moment of his furious order to Pitts, inside the bank, fate was moving in on Jesse from along Division Street, outside it. And she was grinning a little as she moved, thinking perhaps of Jolly Wynnmore.

Like Jolly, Henry M. Wheeler was also a 19-year-old college student. Home on summer vacation from Michigan University, at the moment Cole Younger swung off his bay to begin fussing with his saddleleather, he was talking with J. S. Allen in front of the latter's hardware store. And, again like Jolly Wynnmore, Henry Wheeler was quick of eye, wide of curiosity.

"Now, why the heck you suppose that man in the long duster's fooling so long with that strap? Stopping right in the middle of Division. Say—" For the first time, he noticed Clell. "Look yonder. There's another of 'em standing by the bank door. Same coat and all."

"Henry, my boy—" Allen had seen Jesse and Bob and Pitts ride up earlier — "there's more here than meets the eye. You set tight."

With the order, he moved down the street toward the bank. Coming up the sidewalk unhurriedly, he turned in at the bank as though to enter on business. Clell grabbed him, spun him into the wall, flashed a gun.

"Hold still and keep your mouth shut," he ordered. "J. S. Allen was no college boy. He got a knee into Clell's groin, leaped away and back up the street. J. S. Allen had many talents, among them a fine bass voice.

"They're robbing the bank, boys! Get your guns!" At the signal, the watching Wheeler was off across the square. He was a two-letter trackman and had the lungs to go with the legs that proved it.

In the center of the street, Cole watched the boy go. He had a clear, close shot at him and did not move to take it. There would never be a Jolly Wynnmore for Cole Younger.

Until this moment there had been only five outlaws on the scene. Now, in seeming answer to the gunfire, three more lined-up horsemen swung their mounts out of a side street and raced them for the bank.

As they did, Clell and Cole began wheeling their horses up and down Division Street, raking the storefronts with slugs.

THE walls of the First National Bank of Northfield were no more soundproof than were the crackling nerves of the three desperadoes within them.

Charlie Pitts wheeled, startled. "They're on to the boys outside!" With the words, he slashed Heywood squarely across the eyes with his 44 barrel, knocking him senseless. The next instant he was leaping to join Bob and Jesse where they still held Bunker and Wilcox against the teller's counter.

At the sound of the outer gunfire, Jesse kicked the kneeling Wilcox. Bob seized Bunker, lifting him to his feet. "All right, mister. Where's the money outside the safe?" Bunker gestured toward a cash drawer. Bob, producing Cole's wheatsack, ripped the drawer open. In it were less than $100. He threw the pitiful flutter of bills into the sack, whirled, white-faced, on Bunker.

"There's more money! Where is it? This ain't the cashier's till." Watching them, Jesse suddenly grimaced. "We'll find it ourselves." Bunker, hysterical with pain, leaped to his feet and ran for the rear door of the bank.

Pitts fired and missed, ran cursing after him. He fired again, down the outer alley. The bullet smashed through Bunker's shoulder. The bookkeeper staggered clear of the bank corner and around it to safety.

Pitts ran back through the bank, shouting wildly, "The game's up, he's got clean away!" At the front door he leaped back as a rifle slug smashed a pane and ricocheted into the vault ceiling. "Pull out!" he yelled at the motionless Jesse. With the yell, he ducked and ran through the door into the street.

"I'm gone, Jess." Bob's calm nod went to the still unmoving Jesse. "They'll have us treed in another 10 seconds." He vaulted the teller's counter, slid out his second gun, shot his way into the street, after Pitts.

JESSE came slowly around the counter, moving as though bewildered. At the base of the vault to his left, something stirred, caught at his vacant stare. It was Heywood.

Dazedly recovering consciousness, the cashier staggered drunkenly to his feet, weaved toward the door. Instantly, Jesse was behind him.

The single shot, powder-blasted from a range of inches, struck behind the cashier's right ear and exited above his left eye, blowing away his face. There were still no human words in the snarl, as his murderer shoved Heywood's falling body out of his path and ran, stumbling, for the door.

Outside, he stepped into a heat of aroused-citizen fire.

Allen's Hardware was, by sanguinary fate, Northfield's principal gunstore. From the moment of his escape from Clell, the cool-headed merchant had begun issuing new rifles and boxed ammunition to his fellow townsmen. By the time Jesse reached the street, no less than 30 men were firing at his trapped followers.

And they had had 10 precious minutes to pick firing points within the shelter of half a dozen strategic buildings.

Survey Shows Safer Driving In Congestion

It is safer to drive in congested city traffic than it is to take a weekend drive on the open rural highways.

Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, said, "Traffic fatality figures for the first four months this year show that rural traffic deaths are up 7 per cent over last year's toll for the same period, compared with a 53 per cent decrease in city traffic deaths."

"The very gratifying traffic record in Kansas City and St. Louis," he said, "accounts for practically all of the decrease of city deaths." The Colonel pointed out that St. Louis ranked third in the nation in its population group, and Kansas City ranked first in its population group in a recent survey of city traffic records.

The tabulation showed Springfield as one of forty-two cities in the 50 to 100 thousand group without a traffic fatality. Independence and University City in the 25 to 50 thousand group, and Webster Groves in the 10 to 25 thousand group had perfect records also.

Col. Waggoner said that in congested traffic it is more difficult to reach high speed—the factor that determines the severity in accidents, but on rural highways driving speeds increase, causing the high toll of deaths in accidents.

Sixty-one percent of the traffic deaths which occurred during the first four months this year were on weekends. And, although city traffic records show an enviable decrease, city drivers had a hand in rural traffic deaths. Colonel Waggoner pointed out that after being confined to congested city traffic on week days, city drivers on outing trips during the weekend have a tendency to drive at speeds too fast for highway, weather or traffic conditions.

The World Today—Vaccine Delay Was Avoidable

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—At this point there are two main questions behind the confusion about the anti-polio vaccine: Is it safe? Is the government in any way responsible for some of the confusion?

Is it safe? The experts say yes. But the government is checking. Of the five million children vaccinated since mid-April, 51 have developed polio, 44 of them after being given the vaccine of one company, Cutter Laboratories.

Cutter's vaccine was withdrawn from use. The government is studying it intensively. Whether there is any connection between Cutter's vaccine and the polio in the children who got it may be known within two weeks.

Is the government in any way responsible for some of the confusion? The answer to this seems to be yes. After saying for weeks the vaccine being used is safe, Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service, has called for a temporary halt in vaccinations.

Why? So the government can make a more thorough check on all the companies' vaccines than it did before. And it seems from what is known the government had time to do before what it is doing now.

In last summer's test of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk, sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, all the vaccine used was made by two companies, Eli Lilly and Parke-Davis. Since only several hundred thousand children were getting this vaccine in 1954, only a comparatively few batches of it were needed.

But every one of these batches was triple-checked: by the manufacturers, by Dr. Salk for the foundation, and by the National Institutes of Health, part of the Public Health Service.

The foundation further contracted not only with Lilly and Parke-Davis but with four other manufacturers, including Cutter, to make vaccine for use on perhaps nine million children in the spring of 1955, if results of the 1954 test proved favorable.

On April 12 came the announcement the vaccine had proved 90 to 99 per cent effective. At once, with governmental approval, the manufacturers began distributing it.

When, asked why the government did not check each individual batch, Dr. Scheele said that since the vaccine was first produced, a number of companies have had "continuous experience" in producing it and have "shown their abilities." He explained there had been spot checks and approval of the commercial laboratories' production techniques.

If production of this vaccine began last November, as a foundation official says and it takes 90 days to make—it would seem the health service had time between November and April 12 to check the individual batches. Now it is making a much more thorough check.

Redbirds Wait For Results Of More Play

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal officials have adopted a wait-and-see attitude about the ball club which is staggering under a seven-game losing streak with only two complete games by pitchers.

The Birds, 11½ games out in the National League chase, have just eight victories to show for their 20 games played this season.

Bill Walsingham, club vice president, indicated yesterday nothing is planned "at this time" to help the club right itself but he didn't mean officials were satisfied with the performance to date.

"If we said we were," Walsingham said, "we'd be lying. But any decision we might rush into now could be premature."

Manager Eddie Stanky insists "I'm not concerned at all about recent developments." Both Stanky and Walsingham agreed that "if we can get 8 or 10 days of steady play the staff may find itself."

So far rookie Larry Jackson and Brooks Lawrence own the only two complete games. Jackson, in his major league debut, downed the Chicago Cubs on four hits April 17 and Lawrence trimmed Milwaukee April 22.

A look at the earned-run averages of the pre-season big four of the pitching staff quickly points to one of the trouble spots.

Harvey Haddix, lefty ace the past two seasons, has a 5.91 mark for 35 innings pitched and a 1.4 record. Lawrence has pitched in 20.2 innings for a 6.84 ERA and a 1.2 mark. Tom Poholsky is 0-1 after only four innings with a whopping 23.50 ERA and Gordon Jones stands 0-1 for 16.1 innings and a 5.62 mark.

During the losing streak the Cards have been leaving runners stranded on the base paths also, scoring only 22 runs on 65 hits while the opposition counted 51 times on 71 hits.

But club officials figure the punch is there. Rookie Bill Virdon is hitting a hot .424, Rip Repulski .367, Wally Moon .337, Red Schoendienst .329, Stan Musial (in his almost annual spring slump) .275 and Ken Boyer .259.

Tigers Tromp K. State

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Ed Cook, a southpaw, walked five batters in the first inning and forced in a run, then held Kansas State to three hits as Missouri beat the Wildcats 19-1 yesterday.

Crusading New Yorker Seeks To Question Norris' Tactics

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Julius Helfand, the energetic new chairman of this state's athletic commission, is preparing to haul Jim Norris on the stand next week and question the super-rich young president of the International Boxing Club about certain matters, including exclusive contracts with champions and what happens to a fighter who ditches his manager.

We cannot imagine what the former head of the Brooklyn rackets bureau hopes to worm out of Norris that he hasn't already learned, almost without effort, from Harry Markson, the scholar-manager of the IBC's local store, Markson, who was the star witness as Helfand resumed his digging into a sordid situation, engaged in no ducking and weaving.

Yes, he said, there is a boycott against Vince Martinez, one of the world's top welterweights and a prime television favorite, because he did not renew his contract with veteran manager Bill Daly. Martinez has not had a bout since last December, though Markson asserted he had "tried desperately" to find an opponent for him.

Yes, Markson readily told the commissioner, the IBC does have all major world champions bound hand and foot, and they may fight only when and whom Norris says. Furthermore, he declared, if the IBC did not have such contracts "we wouldn't be able to open our doors," he added, smilingly, that Norris would be able to go on eating if he never promoted another fight.

"Many managers," Markson elucidated, "have avarice and cupidity in their hearts. If we didn't have these exclusive rights to a champions' services, some of the managers, as soon as they got themselves a champion, would decide to become promoters, using someone else as a front. It's been tried before."

Helfand, who is, after all, a salaried employee of the state, wanted to know in what way New York benefited from Norris' near monopoly on the champs.

"Well, commissioner," Markson grinned, "if we didn't have such contracts we wouldn't have been able to promote the fight between Bobo Olson and Archie Moore here this summer, or the welterweight championship between Tony DeMarco and Carmen Basilio coming up in Syracuse." Helfand probed no deeper on that point.

McNeece Easily Favorite of TV For Hard Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Wildcat Billy McNeece is a cinch not to win any boxing titles this year but he's a hot candidate today for "Television Fighter of 1955" honors.

The 23-year-old ex-paratrooper from Islip, N.Y., says he "loves to fight" and after watching him once there won't be any doubt in your mind about that.

The tall redhead wasn't in his best shape last night but he gave the 1,210 fans in the Eastern Parkway Arena and the network TV fans a load of thrills in battling lightweight Tony Johnson, of New York, to a draw in an action-packed 10-rounder.

A 165-pounder, the Wildcat was nine pounds over that weight in his first outing since he was smashed up in an auto accident four months ago. The doctors required 34 stitches to patch up his head and face wounds that night.

"I needed this one to get in shape for Paddy Young (a middleweight) at the Garden June 3," said McNeece.

Johnson, a muscular 172-pounder, was a 3-1 underdog against his more noted rival who has appeared on many TV fight shows. The brawny-armed, 24-year-old Johnson gained prestige with the draw.

His impressive showing in the toe-to-toe slugfest should put him in line for more feature fights.

In another spirited scrap last night, Isaac Logart, a Cuban welterweight, stretched his winning streak to six by gaining a unanimous 10-round decision over Ludwick Lightburn, of British Honduras, at the St. Nicholas Arena.

This bout also was telecast. Logart, a 13-10 favorite, outboxed his opponent, 142½ to 138½.

Motorist Forgets Daughter at Station

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A policeman halted motorist Floyd Robinson Monday on a Topeka street and asked:

"Did you lose something?" Robinson, of Eskridge, Kan., looked around. His 10-year-old daughter Shirley Ann was missing.

A patrol car picked up Shirley Ann at the service station a mile away and returned her to her father.

Jolly, Moose In Tie; Game Stopped by Rain

A terrific softball game between the Jolly Welders and the Moose Club came to a halt Monday night at the end of the fifth inning, the teams all tied up 5-5. The Meadow Gold and Hamm's Sales never got started. The rain was the cause of the calling off of the opener and postponement of the second tilt to Friday night.

Joe Waters of the Welders made two sensational catches in center field when he was running away from the infield and made the catches of fly balls over his shoulder. Ray of the Moose Club pulled the same trick for his team over in left field.

Rules of the Industrial Athletic Association call for all tie games to be replayed from the start when called because of rain.

Games scheduled for tonight will be between the National Engineers and the Brown's Hornets at 7 o'clock to be followed by Meadow Gold and the DeMolay at 9 p. m.

A real battle of the diamond can be anticipated tonight between the openers who played the Polio benefit Sunday with the Hornets winning the tilt. "The Engineers aren't satisfied with Sunday's results," Don Streeter, manager, announced. "We want to even up this grudge deal," he said.

Williams Divorce Tiff Holds Champs Future For Baseball Career

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Florida circuit judge may decide today whether Ted Williams returns to baseball.

Dade County's senior circuit judge, George E. Holt, yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Doris Soule Williams on her plea that she and the Boston Red Sox star "just couldn't get along."

But the Tennessee-born judge postponed until today a ruling on how much money Williams must pay the attractive, dark-haired woman he married 11 years ago. One of Mrs. Williams' attorneys indicated she had agreed to a lump settlement.

It was believed Williams would await the court's ruling on the size of the settlement before making up his mind whether to return to the game that made him famous and paid him as high as $100,000 a season.

"I'm not sure if I'll play baseball," he said after the 30-minute divorce hearing.

Williams attended the hearing but didn't take the stand and did not contest the action.

Nearing Pledge Goal For Bringing Team To St. Louis Fans

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The "major league basketball for St. Louis" committee reports it has sold or received pledges for more than 600 season tickets in a drive to bring the Milwaukee Hawks National Basketball Association franchise here.

The NBA will decide on a transfer of the team when it meets in New York tomorrow to draw up its 1955-56 schedule. The transfer was made necessary because of owner Ben Kerner's inability to get home dates in Milwaukee.

Kerner, who earlier said he wants to bring the team to St. Louis if enough interest is expressed, said in New York the transfer would be the first order of business at the meeting.

Jules Schweig, chairman of the St. Louis committee, told the progress meeting last night all the money hasn't been turned in on pledges but "our figures show better than 600 people either have said they will buy the season tickets or have already turned in their checks."

Kerner set 1,000 advance season tickets as a goal for bringing the club here.

Aged School Teacher Leaves Money to Cats

DETROIT (AP)—Miss Dora H. Pitts, a retired school teacher who died at 83, split her estate among her friends and four cats.

Her will filled for probate yesterday left $100 to each of her cats. The rest of the estate, valued at nearly $20,000, was divided among 83 friends. She had no close kin.

Later Than Might Seem For Chase for Brooklyn Dodgers

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

The calendar insists that it's just the second week in May, but the other seven clubs in the National League may be finding it's later than they thought.

And it isn't necessarily because of Brooklyn's incredible getaway. The Brooks, of course, are off on a romp, winning 21 of their 23 games. But what's made that record even more threatening is the fact only two other clubs are playing. 500 ball or better.

There's the rub. Nobody's in position to catch the Dodgers right now even if somebody gets around to stopping them.

Milwaukee is second, but with a 12-11 record just one game over .500. The New York Giants are right at 500 after 22 games, 9½ back of the Brooks and a half game behind the Braves.

The Dodgers are at Chicago this afternoon, with New York at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at St. Louis and Pittsburgh at Milwaukee in night games.

In the American League, idle as was the National yesterday, Cleveland's Indians swing into New York's Yankee Stadium with a two-game first-place bulge over the Yanks and the Chicago White Sox, who are at Boston in the long day game. Detroit's at Washington with Kansas City at Baltimore.

It was Brooklyn, incidentally, that was the most successful road team in the NL last season, winning 47 of 77 for a .610 percentage. In the West, the Brooks were .636, taking 28 of 64 from the Cardinals, Braves, Cubs and Redlegs.

Vice President Buzby Bavasi doesn't look for his Dodgers to come out of the West unbeaten. All he's asking is that they come home with a 27-5 record. He's willing to take a 6-3 record on the trip.

Manager Walt Alston, who isn't much for talking, said simply, "You can't expect it to continue—but I'm hoping."

The Brooks presently have a 10-game winning streak going, their second of the season after setting a major league mark by winning the first 10 of the schedule.

Al Kaline of Detroit is third with .407 followed by Harvey Kuenn, also of the Tigers with .390.

'Climax' Has Shown Best Improvement

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK (AP)—Among dramatic TV programs that have improved most—and one that had plenty of room to do so—is Climax on CBS.

Its latest offering, The Deliverance of Sister Cecilia, was good drama, good TV and historical fact. Claudette Colbert of film fame, lately almost a TV regular, played the role with sensitivity and good taste, and to the satisfaction of the real Sister Cecilia whom she introduced at the end.

"After watching, I'm not sure which is the real Sister Cecilia, you or me," the heroic nun told Miss Colbert.

The story of Sister Cecilia's flight from Communist police in Czechoslovakia and eventual escape through the iron curtain illustrated again that truth can be more exciting than fiction.

And it demonstrated the gains made in a series which had a very rocky beginning.

The first Climax production last fall included torture scenes that brought floods of criticism in reviews and in letters from angry viewers.

The sponsor stuck by his guns, however, and subsequent shows have shown steady, if slow improvement. Now Climax has been booked right through the summer, traditionally the time for low budget replacements, with the same budget as for the winter months of peak viewing.

After June 9, Climax will go on a straight weekly basis.

One aspect of the series has been successful from the start—the delivery of commercials by tall, personable William Lundigan, veteran of many movie roles.

The British are moving along with plans for commercial TV to rival the government-operated British Broadcasting Corp. Sol Cornberg, director of studio and plant planning for the National Broadcasting Co., will spend July in England helping in the design of a commercial station at Manchester to be operated by Granada Television Ltd.

Henny Youngman and Rocky Graziano have a new TV show of their own coming up on ABC June 1 when the Wednesday night fights switch to that network from CBS. The new program, to be called Henny and Rocky, will follow the fights.

Judges Seen Speeding Through Radar Traps, Both Posted Bond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Two judges who came a long way to Richmond for the annual conference of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges got a first-hand look at Virginia law enforcement en route. They were caught in the state police radar net for trapping speedsters.

Judge Maurice Sapienza came from Hilo, Hawaii, by way of Detroit, where he bought a new car. He got as far as Hanover County before the "whammy" clocked him at 64 miles an hour. He posted bond of $10.25.

Judge Paul A. Martineau of Corpus Christi, Tex., was nabbed in Fluvanna County. Radar caught him "between 70 and 80 miles an hour" and he posted bond of $15.25. Explained the judge: "It was the first stretch of wide open road I'd seen since Texas."

Baby Saved by Driver

NAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A woman passenger on the bus screamed suddenly that her baby was not breathing. Driver Albert P. Mezhir, 30, glanced at the baby, turned off his route and drove several blocks to fire headquarters. The 5-month-old boy was revived with oxygen. A hospital reported later that Addison Reeder, son of Mrs. Hilda Reeder had suffered a convulsion but was all right now.

Accidents

An accelerator on a 1948 Chevrolet Stylmaster sedan became stuck as Tony Rank, 18, 1315 East 13th, started to make a turn to go north on Missouri from Main, and the car went out of control and struck the east side of Town and Country Shoe factory.

Rank had pulled up to the stop sign, stopped and started to head north, he pushed down on the accelerator and it became stuck. He tried to force his car to a stop by applying the brakes and the car went into a skid. It swerved to the west side of the highway, over the curb, knocked down an iron railing and crashed into the building.

The building suffered minor scratches to the paint while the right front headlight, fender and bumper on the car were badly smashed.

Occupants of the car were not injured.

Two automobiles collided at Broadway and Ohio about 8:28 p.m. Monday doing damage to one car. Occupants of the vehicles were not injured.

Involved was a 1946 Dodge sedan driven by Iva Ethel Pate, Indian Hills, Colo., headed west on Broadway, and a 1952 Chevrolet sedan was driven by A-1c Walter Tyrone, Sedalia Air Force Base, headed south. Tyrone started to turn left on to Broadway to go east when the vehicles collided. The left rear fender on the Chevrolet was damaged. There was no damage to the Dodge.

Mid-Continent In Merger With Sunray Oil Co.

Employees of the Mid-Continent Petroleum Corp. in Sedalia Tuesday became members of one of the nation's 15 largest oil companies — Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co.

A giant merger, in the making since last January, it joins Sunray's broad exploration and production facilities with Mid-Continent's wide refining, pipeline and marketing interests, which will operate as the D-X Sunray Oil Co., a wholly owned subsidiary.

C. H. Wright, Sunray chairman, takes over as chairman of the board of the company. R. W. McDowell, Mid-Continent president, is vice chairman. W. C. Whaley, former Sunray president, takes the same position with the new organization.

Stockholders of Sunray Oil Corp. and Mid-Continent voted their approval for combining the two organizations Tuesday in Tulsa, Okla. It was the largest oil merger in Oklahoma history and the largest in the nation since the Socony-Vacuum union in 1932.

No personnel changes are involved.

N. J. Men Kill Selves During Probe

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)—Two Elizabeth officials, who testified before a Union County grand jury probing alleged laxity in connection with gambling, committed suicide yesterday.

A bullet in the head ended the life of 65-year-old Police Capt. August F. Winkelmann, who had been on terminal leave and was due to retire next month.

Fire Commissioner Francis De Stephan, 39, waded fully clothed into Raritan Bay and was drowned. Both deaths were listed officially as suicides. Both men were found in Monmouth County, about 25 miles apart. De Stephan's body was removed from marshland in Matawan Township. Winkelmann was still alive when found near the Manasquan River inlet. He died later in Point Pleasant hospital.

Neither man left suicide notes, police said.

Union County Prosecutor H. Russell Morss Jr. told newsmen he "couldn't say whether there was any connection" between the deaths of Winkelmann and De Stephan. Morss also declined comment on whether either man had been scheduled to appear again before the grand jury.

Winkelmann had refused to honor his first grand jury subpoena, but finally testified April 26. De Stephan had been called before the panel March 2 but didn't testify until 19 days later.

TOKYO (AP)—The 1,600-ton British frigate Alert arrived at Tokyo harbor today on a four-day good will visit. Aboard was Vice Adm. A. K. Scott-Moncrieff, commander of the British navy's Far East station. He was honored at a ceremony at the U. S. Far East headquarters here.

He said Francis had been worried about his appearance before the grand jury and also was concerned over debts.

The grand jury probe began 11 weeks ago, and indictments have been returned against three persons.

Good Time to Give Gardens a Side Dress With Some Nitrogen

Many vegetable gardens are making considerable growth. A University of Missouri extension horticulturist says about now is a good time to sidedress some of the vegetable plants with a little nitrogen. Spinach responds to extra nitrogen when it's about one-third grown, and cabbage, cauliflower, and broccoli respond best about three weeks after planting.

The garden specialist recommends using about one-half pound of ammonium nitrate per fifty feet of row. Put the nitrate in a band along side the row about four to six inches away from the plants. Be sure not to get the ammonium nitrate on the plants as it can burn foliage. Also, do not use more than the one-half pound per fifty feet of row.

Another garden tip given by the specialist is to properly thin small seeded vegetables. Such plants as lettuce, carrots, beets, and onions

Light on Parking

JOLIET, Ill. — Driver Jerry Kavanaugh, 19, backed into a parking place and a $5 fine.

Officer Jerome Kren said he saw Kavanaugh spot a parking place on the left side of an intersection which had a no-left-turn warning sign. Kavanaugh didn't turn left. He turned right and backed across the intersection and into the parking place. But he backed through a red light.

Kren said the law on red lights applies whether you're going forward or backward.

do best if thinned to stand three inches apart in the row. Radishes and peas should be two inches apart, and kale and kohlrabi do best if four inches apart in the row. It's a good idea to make two thinnings, one when the plants are still small, and another when they are two to three inches tall. Many times the failure of small seeded vegetables is blamed on the soil or weather when actually the plants are entirely too thick in the row.

Chemical Weed Killers Are Often Helpful

Newly-developed chemical weed killers are very useful in helping to control some of the broad-leaved pests common in lawns. But a University of Missouri horticulturist says they are only a supplement to good lawn management.

Chemical weed killers are generally most effective when the weeds are growing rapidly. Once weeds have become well established, they are harder to kill and require larger doses of chemical.

Crab grass sometimes gives us trouble even when good management practices are followed. Cutting the grass between one and a half and two inches long will discourage the crab grass but be sure not to cut the grass any shorter than this length. The most effective chemicals against crab grass are those that kill it as it germinates.

Chickweed and henbit have been especially troublesome this spring. These weeds germinate in the fall and are easily controlled by a heavy application of 2,4-D in late October. However, it's not very effective against them now while they are in bloom. A treatment effective against chickweed is the application of ammonium sulfate at the rate of one pound per hundred square feet.

The fire ant which has invaded southern United States from Brazil will attack stored food, food plants and live farm animals.
